Favorite weekend:

With so many things on offer in Shanghai, it is difficult to choose a favorite weekend. For me, it consists of enjoying our new place in the Tian Zi Fang area, wandering around the neighboring streets and taking day trips to never-ventured-before places. Having a nice brunch with friends is always great as well. And a full-body massage to close the weekend is sublime.

Favorite shops:

The several shopping streets I like to venture to include Yongfu, Changle and Jinxian roads. But I recently discovered the below shops and would like to share them with you.

• Delicious: Delicious offers a different skincare regime for each season, and its home service transforms your bedroom into an instant retreat.

Delicious

• Han Yuan Cafe: This vintage-style cafe with book-lined walls offers a relaxing place to kickback and read a favorite book — or two — depending on what you fancy from the plethora of books ranging from Chinese history to modern art.
